

Methanol plant goes back to Burrup

METHANEX will move its mega-methanol development back to the Burrup Peninsula in the Pilbara.

The decision follows potential problems with the gas supply to the proposed Darwin site in the Northern Territory.