

Leave Burrup

HAVING lived in Dampier many years ago, I hold in utter contempt the feeble spin Warren Fish (Woodside Energy's heritage officer) attempts to sell the people of Fremantle ('Woodside responds, Herald 14/4/07).

He implies as there is an estimated one million rock engravings on the Burrup and surrounding areas and Woodside's footprint won't (or hasn't) disturbed, damaged or destroyed the areas natural beauty or internationally-significant engravings . And Mr Fish would also like to think neither would the Pluto LNG development disturb the great pyramids of Giza if Woodside wanted to plant it there!

Mr Fish knows most Herald readers have never visited the Burrup and might therefore believe Woodside has everything covered. Rather than protect and conserve the Burrup by selecting an alternative site (the Pilbara Coast is long enough) whilst still allowing the company to make billions from this development, Woodside provides us with Mr Fish and his spin, to convince us (1600km away) that the company will protect and conserve the Burrup. Sorry Mr Fish, as heritage manager for Woodside, take your spin and development off the Burrup!
